The Esmeralda's Captain Says a Pistol Shot Would Have Caused Battle.

San Francisco, June 9.—The Examiner pub ishes a sensational letter from its correspondent at Acapulco, in which he says that in an in-Esmeralda, the latter told him that the Esmer- ported. alda met the Itata at a point 100 miles south of Manzanilla, Mexico.

They were about to put coal on board the Esmeralda when the steam launch which had been sent north as a lookout signaled that a pursuer was in sight. Instantly the Itata was ordered to fly, and she sailed away at the top of her speed. The pursuer was the Charleston, and the Esmeralda prepared to meet her. The meeting occurred off the harbor of Acapulco at about 3 o'clock in the morning. The Esmeralda had her search light playing over the sea and shed it. morning. The Esmeralda had her search light playing over the sea and shed it full upon the United States cruiser as she steamed down upon her. The result was that the Charleston beat to quarters and put every man at the guns. The Esmeralda was equally prepared and her decks were sanded for action. Capt. Palma says if a pistol shot had been fired on either side it would have been the signal for instant engagement. Is an alterative and eliminative remedy which dissolves tenacious bile, allays irritation and removes ob-instant engagement.

Capt. Palma says he tried to buy coal and provisions from the Mexicans, but they refused to sell him anything. He at length told the authorities that if he did not get coal to get outside he would fight in the harbor. It is small and land locked, and the fight would have destroyed the town. After this threat he was allowed the needed coal.

POLICEMEN AS STARLEMEN

Demands of the Situation Produced by the London 'Bus Drivers' Strike.

London, June 9.—There was little change in the situation of the strike here this morning. Very few road cars were running. The companies says that they have received 1,400 applications from men who are desirous of filling places made vacant by the strike of the drivers and conductors. The companies, however, have engaged none of these men, their object in declining to employ the applicants being to give the strikers time to reconsider their position and return to work. In order to prevent the horses from suffering through their being few stablemen to care for them, a number of policemen have been detailed to assist the companies in feeding and in other ways taking care of the horses. At Hornsey one hundred of the men employed about the stables have abandoned the strike and gone stables have abandoned the strike and gone back to their work.

The position of the strike of the employes of the omnibus companies is to all intents and purposes unchanged. The Road Car Company only started twenty-five of its omnibuses today and the General Omnibus Company's vehicles are at a complete standstill. The result, naturally, is that the "pirate" or "scab" omnibuses are reaping a harvest of fares. The "pirates," it should be added, are plying with the consent of the omnibus employes union, and in addition several minor omnibus lines have been permitted to start their vehicles, having conceded the hours of work and other terms asked for by the men.

The strikers now show signs of alarm at the great increase in the number of "pirate" buses and are discussing the advisability of limiting the number of these vehicles which the union will allow to ply for passengers with the idea of putting the public to as much inconvenience as possible with the view, the strikers claim, of bringing the public to support the strikers. port the strikers.
Strong squads of police are protecting all the omnibus companies yards, which, as usual, in all strikes, are surrounded by crowds of loafers in addition to the pickets stationed there by the strikers. The latter keep their temper admirably and appear to be sanguine of ulti-

He believes that party leaders will all unite upon him before going into convention.

NOT GOING TO MEXICO.

Minister Romero Denies That He Has Been Minister Romero said this morning that the leans stating that President Diaz had directed him to come to Mexico and assume the secretaryship of the treasury had its origin in a witness before the committee of the city counpublication made by a Mexican paper about cil at Philadelphia. Mr. Lacey is said to be May 30 to that effect, and so far as he knew was without foundation.

The minister further said he had no reason to believe he would be called upon to assume the treasury portfolio, as he had received no such notice from his government.

an extension at a lower rate of interest that he really did not know but it might finally be concluded to fix the rate at 1 per cent.

A statement prepared at the Treasury Department shows that the 4½ per cent bonds held by the national banks are geographically distributed as follows:

New England states, $3,743,850; middle states, $5,805,800; middle states, $3,743,850; middle states, $5,805,800; middle states, $3,743,850; middle states, $5,805,800; middle states, $3,800; middl New England states, $3,743,850; middle states, $5,695,400; southern states, $3,447,300, and western states, $13,754,900; total, $26,671,850.

This shows that the western banks, which are said to favor the 1 per cent rate, hold more than one-half of the entire amoung owned by the national banks and more than the banks of the New England and middle states combined.

The strongest point in favor of the 2 per cent rate is the agreement of the eastern bank-ers to purchase the entire outstanding loan of $53,000,000 at that rate, while the western bankers, known to favor the 1 per cent rate, have so far spoken only with respect to the bonds now held by them.

The Elliott Murder Trial.

Columbus, Orio, June 9.—The first witness to testify in the Elliott murder case was W. L. Burton, called by the prosecution. He is a real estate agent, with rooms immediately over the spot where the tragedy took piace. Burton testified that he was leaning out of the window and saw Elliott with a smoking revolver in his hand within an instant after the first shot was fired. He thinks that Fatsy fired the second shot and Osborn the third.

THE KEYSTONE BANK FAILURE

Said to Have Been Discussed at the Cabinet Meeting-Will the Controller Testify? It is understood that the Keystone Bank failure came up in the cabinet meeting today for make it clear that he acted with propriety in relation to the closing of the bank, according to the information he had, but there some objection to his appearing as a witness the argument against such a course being tha it would form a precedent which might em-barrass the department in the future. Just what will be done in the matter was expected to be determined at the cabinet meeting today.

If permitted to do so Mr. Lacey will appear Secretary Foster in regard to the extension of the 4½ per cent loan, as stated in The Stan yesterday, no conclusion was reached and the subject will be considered at the should warrants. If it is thought best that he should be subject will be considered at the should be subject will be considered. yesterday, no conclusion was reached and the subject will be considered at the cabinet meeting today. There is a great conflict of opinion as to the future action of the Treasury Department with respect to this loan, but it is understood that Secretary Foster favors its extension at 2 per cent. He said yesterday afternoon that such a course would raise the credit of the government and at the same time enable the national banks to increase their circulation—a THE SEAL CATCH.

the Alaskan seal islands to stop the killing of seals by the North American Commercial Comseals by the North American Commercial Com-pany when the catch has reached 7,500. It has been supposed that this order would not be charge of murder was plainly enough made. pany when the catch has reached 7,500. It has issued until after the English parliament had passed the Bering sea bill and an agreement had been formally arrived at between Great Britain and the United States to submit the dispute to arbitration. The President, however, is satisfied that only some necessary formalities remain in the way of a complete understanding. The Rush carried orders limiting the catch to 7,500. This shows that the government has put into actual operation its proposition to Great Britain pending a settlement of the long controversy. If the recent negotiations should be broken off and the efforts of the two governments come to naught it will be necessar to send a vessel to notify the seal company agent of the fact and authorize a continuance of the now generally prohibited killing.

It is said that material progress is being made toward a temporary settlement of the Bering sea question, pending a final arbitration of the points at issue. The President, Secretary Foster and Attorney General Miller were in conference yesterday discussing the situation. The revenue cutter Corwin is now at San Francisco awaiting final orders, and it is expected that these will be sent to her within the next few days, when she will proceed to Bering sea. After communicating with the government agents at the seal islands it is pre-sumed that the Corwin will assist the other vessels in policing the scaling waters.

Boys Fined for Trespassing.

Four boys were tried in Judge Kimball's court this morning, charged with trespassing on the parks. Two of them were arrested for breaking flowers from one of the public parks, and the other two were arrested for swinging and the other two were arrested for swinging on one of the fences.

Judge Kimball told the boys that the flowers were put in the parks to beautify them and the fences were erected to protect them. "If boys are permitted to break the shrubbery and destroy the fences," said the judge, "the government may as well abandon them. The court will certainly do its duty and protect them as far as possible."

The boys were fined $5 each.

Barber was charged with causing counsel at once filed a motion for a new trial, which was denied, and a motion in arrest of judgment claiming that the indictment charging 'that Agnes Watson was then and there mortally drowned' was not sufficient to warrant a conviction of murder and that it should have distinctly charged that she then and there died. The case went up to the General Term and was fully argued once before three judges and then before the chief justice and Judges James, Montgomery and Bradley, Judge James said that the chief justice and Judge Montgomery (who tried the case) agreed with him in the conclusions that the law requires in an indictment for murder that the death must be set out clearly, and that while from the words used, 'mortally drowned,' death could be inferred, it was not for the court to infer, and death must be clearly charged. According to decisions read in this indictment Agnes Watson's death is not alleged. The words in the concluding paragraph, that defendant did, by the means aforesaid, kill and murder, do not cover the defect in the avergment in the preceding charge. The order murder, do not cover the defect in the aver-ment in the preceding charge. The order would be that the motion in arrest is sustained

WORK ON THE CANAL. In about fou: more weeks, if the weather remains good, the Chesapeake and Ohio canal will be improved throughout its entire length of 184 miles, and once more will be heard along the line of the old water way the neighing of the mules and the loud yells of the profane driver as bushel after bushel of wheat and tons upon tons of Cumberland coal are slowly brought into town to be loaded on vessels and upon tons of Cumberland coal are slowly brought into town to be loaded on vessels and shipped to other points. As soon as the canal company makes the necessary arrangements with the wharf and coal dock owners about the shipments to be made the reconstruction of these necessities will commence and hundreds of negroes who lounge about these places and have been idle since the shutting down of the canal will be employed. The steam dredge, which for some weeks has been removing the heavy accumulations at the mouth of the canal and piling the sides high with the black mud, is now slowly moving toward the first gate. There is no doubt in the contractors minds that the canal will be dredged in the specified time. After the passing of this first gate the work will be comparatively easy and more rapidly done, as from this point to the first break the accumulations are very slight.
